Pasco County Suspending Fire Rescue Call Responses

~~Unsafe Conditions High-Profile Vehicles~~

PASCO COUNTY, FL ---- Pasco County Fire Rescue is no longer responding to calls for service. If you do have an emergency, call 911 and report the issue. Emergency crews will respond as soon as it is safe to do so.

Sustained winds are 40 mph or stronger, and it is no longer safe for high-profile fire rescue vehicles to be on the road. Responding to calls for service at this point will put first responders in life-threatening conditions.

Pasco County emergency officials remind residents to follow safety precautions as Hurricane Irma passes through. Please remain sheltered where you are.
