Two Pasco County Libraries to Close October 1 for Remodeling

~~Centennial Park and New River Branches begin extensive reimagining~~

PASCO COUNTY, FL ---- Two remodeling closures will kick off an exciting, new chapter for Pasco County Libraries as it begins to renovate and reimagine its seven branches. Centennial Park Library in Holiday and New River Library in Wesley Chapel will be closed beginning Tuesday, October 1, 2019, for extensive improvements expected to be complete by summer 2020.

The renovations are part of the General Obligation Bond (G.O. Bond) Referendum that voters passed in November, 2018. Over the next few years, each library branch will receive complete remodeling including updated technology, new outdoor spaces, more accessible parking, updated furnishings, high-efficiency air conditioning systems, high-speed internet and makerspaces – all designed to provide an enhanced customer service experience.

“Most of the Pasco County Libraries were built in the 1980s and have seen incremental updates,” said Libraries Public Communications Specialist Bob Harrison. “This fresh start will transform each branch, incorporating innovative improvements to serve our community for generations to come.”

Patrons can continue to check out books and materials, and attend events at library branches throughout the county during the closures. Library staff will be at alternate local venues to provide continued services and programs. Please visit the Pasco County Libraries website: www.pascolibraries.org for updated program information.
