IT'S LAUNCH-DAY EVE FOR CLERK & COMPTROLLER'S OFFICE
New Website Designed to be Easier, More User-Friendly

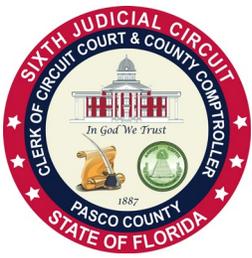

NEW PORT RICHEY – Pasco County Clerk & Comptroller Nikki Alvarez-Sowles is delighted to announce the pending rollout of her Office's redesigned website, www.pascoclerk.com. The new site is scheduled to launch Thursday at 2 p.m.

"Everyone involved in developing the new site has had one question foremost in their minds," Clerk Nikki says. "Will this change help us serve and connect with our customers and our partners?"

"I am confident the new, improved pascoclerk.com delivers on that focus."

The redesigned website will be easier to use, allow for greater user interaction, and will feature enhancements such as a prominent search function, video, easy access to documents, streamlined directions for online access to a variety of Clerk & Comptroller functions, and real-time updates for news and social media posts.

Like the website address itself, everything users liked about the former website will remain: Up-to-date data, records searches, scam alerts, Office events information, where and how to contact us, how to make online payments, what to do when you're summoned for jury duty, and so on. The new site keeps all of that and adds more while striving to be better packaged and more easily navigated.

As with all grand openings, we expect there will be a bump or snarl during the rollout. Please bear with us as we iron out the kinks with our partner, CivicPlus, known as the leading government website provider. We look forward to a website that will enhance community engagement, communication, and connection.

About the Office of Pasco County Clerk & Comptroller: The Florida Constitution established the Clerk & Comptroller as an elected public trustee in 1838 to carry out at the county level a system of checks and balances involving a vast number of administrative duties. We serve and connect our community to our government partners and the justice system by delivering exceptional services.
